WELCOME TO THE ADMIRAL RODNEY IN SOUTHWELL

The hidden jewel of Southwell nestles in rolling countryside between Nottingham and Newark. It is most famous for its impressive minster and four wells. Various spots around the town claim to house the original 'south well', but we think the most likely candidate is the well in the bar of the Admiral Rodney. The minster and this are well worth a visit.

The Admiral Rodney is an 18th Century Grade II listed building in the centre of the town, a stone's throw from the minster. The relaxed and welcoming surroundings make it the perfect place for any celebration, large or small.

We also offer great value with a wedding package starting at less than £1,000 for 30 guests

Our atmospheric function room will accommodate up to 80 guests for a wedding breakfast or sit-down meal, with buffets available for around 120 people. The celebrations can run into the evening for up to 150 with a private bar and dance floor. Our dedicated team will work with you to dress the room as you like. They can advise on the best food and drink options to help deliver a truly memorable day.
